

Port Arthur Reports Seventh Death Related to COVID-19

July 3, 2020

It is with great sadness that the City of Port Arthur Health Department (PAHD) is reporting the seventh COVID-19 related death of a resident of Port Arthur. The individual was an African American female between the age ranges of 85-90. It is undetermined at this time whether this individual had underlying health conditions.

We emphasize again that COVID-19 is a very serious disease. While 80% of individuals who contract COVID-19 will have mild to moderate symptoms and fully recover, they may spread the disease to people who are at high risk. The elderly and people with underlying health conditions or weakened immune systems are at a much higher risk for developing serious complications from COVID-19. We strongly advise at-risk individuals to minimize contact with others who are ill and practice social distancing and wear mask when in public.
